King, St. Laurent Sign World Charter On Canada's Behalf

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—A program of brilliant formalities was being carried out today by delegates to the United Nations' Security Conference, with 50 peace-loving countries putting their names to a powerfully worded pledge, leaguizing them in a world organization to establish security from major conflicts.

The ceremonies, launched with the beginning of the signing at noon, will end in a series of speeches climaxed by a closing address from President Truman. Officials estimated the signing would require about eight hours.

DR. WELLINGTON KOO

First to sign was Dr. Wellington Koo of China. Prime Minister King and Justice Minister St. Laurent, for Canada, were fifth on the list.

Dr. Koo took 32 seconds to brush in his signature on the charter, making his country the first of the United Nations to be invaded by the Axis—the first to sign the new world order.
In a prepared statement, read from the blue chair from which he signed the world charter, the Chinese delegation chief declared:

"This is a great day for all. In the name of the Chinese Republic, I sign this document. Twice within a lifetime war has swept the world. It is natural that I am glad to be the first to sign because we were the first country to be attacked by these forces of evil."

Despite the solemnity of the occasion, the signing ceremony had something of the air of a Hollywood premiere. Kleig lights bathed the auditorium. Delegates awaiting their turn sat in gilded chairs.

SIGNERS TOTAL 153

Thus began the lengthy ceremony in which 153 delegates moved in alphabetical order—after China, Russia, Britain and France had signed—to the great blue table, surrounded by the flags of all the United Nations, centring the Kleig-lit auditorium of San Francisco's Veterans' Building.

The United States preferred to wait until last—partly because it is host country but largely because it wanted to sign in the afternoon so President Truman might witness the ceremony more conveniently.

One by one, the delegates were called to the table on which lay the blue leather-bound charter that their top spokesmen said represents the hopes of the living and a promise of "never again" to the fallen dead.

A triumphant meeting of the conference—its last working session—Monday night approved the final version of the charter. After the signatures are affixed today, the slow process of ratification then will present itself.

Prime Minister Tells Mayhew He Favors Naval H.Q. In Victoria

Return of Pacific headquarters of the Royal Canadian Navy to Esquimalt from Vancouver after the Japanese war appeared assured today with the announcement of R. W. Mayhew, Victoria M.P.-elect, that he had been assured the support of Prime Minister Mackenzie King in his campaign begun in 1942.
Pacific naval headquarters were moved to Vancouver soon after the outbreak of the Japanese war. Mr. Mayhew, Victoria representative in the House of Commons since 1937, had since that time taken up that matter along with the return of

M.D. 11 and Western Air Command headquarters to Victoria with the Prime Minister, Defence Ministers Ralston and McNaughton and the B.C. Cabinet representative, Veterans' Affairs Minister Ian Mackenzie.

The support of these ministers had been enlisted previously. In a wire to Mr. Mayhew, Prime Minister King said he was sympathetic to Mr. Mayhew's stand that the R.C.N. Pacific headquarters should be returned to Esquimalt, traditional base of operations not only for the Canadian navy in the Pacific, but prior to that for the Royal Navy on this coast.

Big Scale New Trade Agreements Canada, Britain, U.S. Planned

By NORMAN MacLEOD
SAN FRANCISCO—Important information that large-scale new trade agreements between Canada and the United States and Great Britain may be expected shortly after the now pending Big Three meeting in Berlin was given here today by Prime Minister King.

The Prime Minister would give no indication of the nature of the new trade plans beyond the statement that Canadian trade officials had been in close discussion on trade matters with both the United States and the United Kingdom governments for some time now.

He gave it as his opinion the new trade arrangements which the government has under consideration with both Washington and London need not await either a Washington-London trade conference nor an international conference on world trade in order to be put into effect.

TO TALK WITH TRUMAN

His intimation was that the question of expanded trading relations with the United States was one of the matters which he would hope to take up with President Truman at the scheduled conference at the White House after the President returns from the Big Three meeting.

While the Prime Minister would give no details of the new British and American trade plans which the government is seeking to mature, Canadian delegation sources here suggested they should be regarded as large-scale in their concept and as raising Canada's foreign trade policy definitely to the level of constructive international policy.

That the aim of the new pacts will be to lower trade barriers and expand commerce between the nations concerned is taken for granted in delegation circles. In this regard the important possibility is raised of Canada being willing to throw open the entire existing system of Empire preferences in return for suitable concessions in the United States and world markets.

Another conjecture which is being put forward by sources usually well informed is that the revised trading basis which Canada seeks to bring about between herself, the United States and Great Britain should be based on certain broad principles of free international trade which would constitute, in effect, a master agreement to which other nations could adhere in future.

Export Permits Needed for Meat, Dressed Poultry

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Hiesley announced today that, effective at midnight tonight, meat and dressed and live poultry will be placed under export permit at all custom ports across Canada.

A statement said the action was being taken in conjunction with the United States to insure the filling of the U.S. contract for 30,000,000 pounds of chicken to feed the armed forces. It added that Washington was placing under permit all imports of dead, dressed and processed chicken.

Erno Rapee Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Erno Rapee, 55, musical director of the Radio City Music Hall since its opening in 1932, died today.
Born in Budapest, Hungary, Rapee had been guest conductor of most of the leading symphony orchestras in Canada, the U.S. and Europe.

'Gestapo' Witness Denies Charges

TORONTO (CP)—Capt. William J. Osborne-Dempster, testifying before the Royal Commission investigating E. B. Jolliffe's charge that the Drew government maintained a "political gestapo," said today he had never delivered provincial police "special branch" reports to Premier Drew or to Attorney-General Blackwell.

Neither the Premier nor the Attorney-General had ever asked him to secure information, either "directly or indirectly," the witness said.

Low-Rent Housing

VANCOUVER (CP)—This city's council is prepared to "co-operate" in the proposal for construction of 5,000 low-rental homes for Vancouver.
The city has unserviced lots south of Little Mountain and in the southeast section of the city that it can provide at reasonable rates for the project, Acting Mayor Charles Jones said this afternoon. But whether the city will go any further than this the acting mayor was not prepared to say.

Swimmer Drowns

WEST VANCOUVER (CP)—William Bigus, 18, of Lulu Island, drowned Monday while swimming off a boom of logs at Wycliffe Point. Bigus was engineer on the tugboat Maagen. An inquest will be held.

Scene of Battle Midway Between Okinawa, Kyushu

LONDON (CP)—The All-India radio said a Japanese broadcast heard there today reported Allied forces were attempting an invasion of an island half-way between Okinawa and the Japanese main islands.

The island being invaded was not identified in the broadcast heard in India.

Amami Gunto, Amami Oshima, Togara Gunto and Yaku Shima all are in the approximate location, however.

(CBS said the BBC reported hearing another Tokyo broadcast announce that "an Allied invasion fleet of 200 ships is expected to attempt landings on two islands about half-way between Okinawa and Japan.")

Amami Gunto is about 300 miles south of Kyushu, southernmost of the main Japanese islands. Yaku Shima is less than 100 miles south of Japan's shores while Amami Oshima and Togara Gunto are between Amami Gunto and Yaku Shima.

Worst Crisis Since 1274 A.D.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Premier Admiral Baron Suzuki told the Japanese people today they faced an invasion crisis unparalleled since the Mongol hordes swept over the islands more than 600 years ago.

In a cabinet message issued to the nation "on the occasion of the Okinawa battle," Suzuki pledged his government's "grim determination" to defend the islands against the Allied power gathering to the south.

The 77-year-old Premier declared bluntly that the present crisis facing Japan "is the greatest one since the Mongolian invasion" of 1274 A.D., and added: "Now is the time to decide the destiny of the Japanese empire."

"At this time of national crisis I request the entire nation to endure mounting hardships and difficulties with utmost perseverance and with the defiance of death characteristic of the Japanese," he said.

His statement, distributed by the Japanese Domei agency and recorded here by the Federal Communications Commission, was made as other enemy broadcasts told of invasion and threats of invasion in other parts of the Empire once swollen by the conquests of 1942.

Radio Tokyo said that "some 30-odd enemy surface units, including cruisers and destroyers, now are bombarding Balikpapan," big refining centre for eastern Borneo's oil fields.
A Domei broadcast said that unidentified Allied units had landed on the small island of Ternate, about 310 miles southeast of the southern tip of the Philippines.
If true, this would clamp a pincers "on the nearby enemy-held Island of Halmahera, since U.S. forces already have occupied Morotai Island to the northeast in the drive north to the Philippines."
The Japanese, who previously had claimed that landing attempts in the Balikpapan area had been repulsed, began again and said that it appeared now an invasion was impending.

Largest C.W.A.C. Contingent Yet Formed Sails for Europe

HALIFAX (CP)—The largest C.W.A.C. contingent ever to cross the Atlantic is voyaging to Britain aboard the liner Ile de France. The big troop carrier sailed from here this morning officer commanding the band is Capt. Grace McNeill of Hamilton, Ont., while WO1. Nadis Svarich of Vegreville, Alta., is the bandmaster.

The first C.W.A.C. war artist to go overseas is also included in the group. She is Lieut. Molly Lamb of Galiano Island, B.C. She hopes to sketch and paint girls everywhere they are serving, or she will serve, in Britain and on the continent.

Officers making the trip include Lieut. Millicent Cocks, Leader, Sask.

Other ranks include Sgt. Eva McMillan of Carmichael, Sask.; Sgt. Margaret Ramsey of Weyburn, Sask.; Sgt. Geneva Sidwell of Vancouver; Pte. Beryl Spence of Trossacks, Sask.; and Pte. Clara Zaste of Winnipeg.

Chaplain's Petition For Nullity Refused

VANCOUVER (CP)—The petition of Capt. Gerald Blanchflower Punter for annulment of his marriage here eight years ago to Margaret Wilson Punter, was refused in B.C. Supreme Court today by Mr. Justice J. M. Coady.

On his return recently from overseas service as a chaplain, Capt. Punter resigned from the United Church ministry because, he told the court, of embarrassment caused by the nullity proceedings which he instituted nearly two years ago from England.

Mr. Justice Coady dismissed his suit because of lack of sincerity on the part of Capt. Punter. He said the husband is precluded by his own conduct from attacking the validity of his marriage, and quoted Mrs. Punter's evidence that she had asked the minister in 1939 if he wanted a separation.

The petition was based on medical grounds and was opposed by Percy White for Mrs. Punter, who testified she had paid nearly $2,000 in debts, including college bills of her husband, after he had gone into the army.

BOMB BLASTED, BUT SHE WILL FIGHT AGAIN—Smoke fills the sky as it rises from the flight deck of the U.S. aircraft carrier Bunker Hill—another gallant ship that refused to die. The vessel was hit twice within 30 seconds by two Jap suicide planes just as she was ready to send off gasoline-filled and bomb-loaded planes on a mission over Okinawa. The explosions and fire took the lives of 392 men, with 264 wounded. The ship survived to limp into a U.S. west coast repair yard where she is being refitted for further duty.

NANAIMO (CP)—Game wardens of this district have received complaints from Superintendent of Works Jack Shepherd that army bomb and grenade throwers have been using deep steelhead pools of the South Forks River for targets.

He told the City Council here Monday night that he had seen numerous dead trout floating down stream.

He also complained he had driven his automobile into the middle of an active battery firing from the mountain roadside, "but not a guard or sentry had been posted to give warning."

A fire warden also complained of Bren gun bursts pattering among the timber around his cabin.

Working of Housing Act Criticized By Leigh

Victor L. Leigh, re-elected president of the Victoria Builders' Exchange at their 34th annual dinner meeting in the Empress Hotel Monday night, said the Housing Act was a good one but the way it was operating didn't help the people it was meant to help—those in the smaller income group and the returning soldiers.

Also the new specifications called for the use of labor and materials which were not necessary on this coast, he said.

After reading the telegram Acting Mayor Ed Williams, guest at the meeting, received from Mayor Percy George in Ottawa in which the mayor said that Mr. Leigh was concerned about the inflated prices of new homes, Mr. Leigh said there was no sign of inflated prices for homes here. It might be true in the east, he said, where the big companies were able to build 300 to 400 houses at a time.

Housing was the most vital question facing people in Victoria today, he said. "It is the business of every citizen to see that the housing problem is solved." The issuing of building licenses didn't provide homes, Mr. Leigh said. There must be labor and materials. Private builders could easily build 500 houses. The 180 the government was going to build would only aggravate the situation because it would prevent them from building the 500, he said. "Every house built privately saves the taxpayer the price of building one." And if private industry didn't get the material and labor, the government would say that it had failed, he said.

R. W. MAYHEW

R. W. Mayhew, M.P.-elect, guest speaker, said that since last meeting the number of permits issued for Victoria had considerably increased. Admitting that supplies had been the stumbling block of the whole program, he thought local builders were a little to blame.

It was impossible to grant a priority to a man with only one house to build, he said. If they were accumulated and one application went through in the name of one man for a block of 50 houses as he had suggested more than a year ago, it would be all right. It had worked very well among the machine shops in the shipbuilding industry in Victoria, he said.

A proposal that the Industrial Release Board be asked if it were not possible for any man on active service to be given 90 days' leave to help out the shortage of labor in the construction industry, with preference to the long-service man, was made by L. G. Scott. The meeting appointed him to act with the directors and G. H. Wheaton to draft a suitable resolution.

A sound slide film entitled "Production in Safety," and a movie short "Safety," as well as a series of slides were shown by the Workmen's Compensation Board. Introduced by James Newton, Inspector, they were exhibited by J. Gardeche, photographer.

After the report of the committee on vacations with pay was made by Chairman Wheaton the problem was left to the executive.

COMMITTEES NAMED

Committees appointed were: Apprentice and rehabilitation to work with the Vancouver Advisory committee, C. J. Macdonald and L. G. Scott; plumbing and steam fitting, W. R. Menzies and W. Thacker; electrical, H. J. Langdon and R. P. Murphy; painting and decorating, C. Mullins and F. Clarkson; bricklaying, W. Luney and R. Parfitt; plastering, A. R. Frewing and F. G. Palmer; carpentering, L. G. Scott and V. I. Leigh; marble and tiling, J. N. Anderson.

W. J. Hamilton, re-elected secretary-treasurer, gave the financial report, showing cash on hand at the end of the fiscal year to be $115.91.

Directors elected were C. Bartle, A. Davies, C. Mullins, F. W. Hawes, W. Luney, H. J. Langdon, C. J. McDowell, J. A. Pollard and D. Smith.

Provincial Board Studying Polio

Continual study of the causes of poliomyelitis, a disease of the nervous system which is common across the continent, is being conducted by the Provincial Board of Health, Dr. G. F. Amyot said today.

Four cases have occurred in Vancouver so far this year. The disease usually becomes most prevalent in July and August.

The disease appears to have a cycle but not very much is known about it as yet.

The B.C. government has called for tenders to close July 16 in Vancouver for insurance of bridges, buildings, rolling stock and equipment of the P.G.E. Railway.

Made No Ruling
On Elections Act,
Says Deputy Chief

A denial that any ruling was made by the Department of Justice in regard to voting time off for shipyard workers is made by F. P. Varcoe, deputy minister of the Department of Justice, in reply to a complaint lodged by the Victoria Joint Shipyard Council, F. J. Bevis, secretary of the council, revealed today.

In its complaint to the department, the council claimed shipyards here had posted notices stating they had a ruling regarding voting time off and that so long as the workers had two clear hours free before the polls closed, the shipyards did not have to give the workers additional time off. The council alleged the shipyards gave Mr. Varcoe as their authority.

Mr. Varcoe, in his letter to the council, said it was not the function of his department to furnish legal opinions or rulings to private individuals on the interpretations of the Dominion statutes, and no opinion had been given by him to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, as was suggested by the council.

He had, however, given an opinion to the chief electoral officer, Jules Castonguay as to the proper construction to be placed on subsection (1) of section 47 of the Dominions Election Act, he said, and admitted it was possible Mr. Castonguay might have informed the C.M.A. that he, Mr. Castonguay, had such an opinion.

Whenever the question as to the effect of the subsection was discussed with him, the deputy minister said, he had made it "abundantly clear that employers must act upon their own responsibility in interpreting the provision and were not either bound or protected by my opinion."

Mr. Varcoe further added that failure on part of the employer to comply with Section 47 was punishable on summary conviction by fine and imprisonment, and it was open to anyone who believed an employer had committed an offence to lay a complaint against him and have the question of interpretation passed upon by the courts.

Mr. Bevis said a formal complaint made by the council notes one instance in which it is alleged a shipyard worker had deducted from his paycheck the two hours he took off to vote.

J. B. Munro Wins Doctor's Degree

J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture since 1919, has been awarded the doctor of philosophy degree by the faculty of arts of the University of Ottawa, according to word received today by Premier John Hart from Dr. Henry Poupart, dean of the faculty.

Dr. Poupart, in advising the premier of the award, congratulated B.C. "on this mark of academic approval being bestowed on your deputy minister of agriculture." Mr. Hart expressed his pleasure at the award, adding that he had wired congratulations to Dr. Munro now in Ottawa, to receive the degree.

A native of Ontario, educated in public and high schools at Port William and also at Guelph Agricultural College, Dr. Munro was graduated with the degree of B.S.A. from Toronto University in 1919 and received his M.S.A. degree from the University of B.C. in 1930.

From 1920 to 1922, Dr. Munro was district supervisor of agricultural education at Armstrong, B.C., and from 1922 to 1928, he served as field crop specialist with the B.C. department of agriculture.

He has also served as chairman of the B.C. Agricultural Products Committee and president of the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club work.

Dr. Munro began working for this degree seven years ago when he started an extra-mural study with the University of Ottawa specializing in Canadian history. His thesis, "The Language, Legends, Lore and Landmarks of the Carrier Indians," necessitated his learning the language of that Central B.C. people and translating the syllabic writings of the early Catholic missionaries into French and then English.

India Conference Makes Progress In Early Stages of Discussion

SIMLA, India (Reuter).—The conference of the Viceroy, Viscount Wavell, and leaders of Indian parties on the future government of India today made a step forward when the national leaders reached provisional conclusions and expressed a desire to confer among themselves.

Their decision, reached 1½ hours after the second day's session had begun, ended formal discussions with the Viceroy until tomorrow.

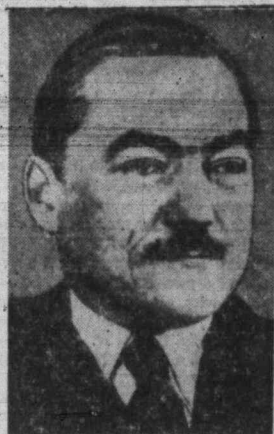

(The New Delhi radio quoted a Moslem League spokesman as saying things were going "very well" at the conference. The radio quoted reports that if definite conclusions were reached, Dr. Abul Kalam Azad, president of the Congress, would ask for an adjournment of four or five days to call a meeting of the Congress working committee at Simla.)

Efforts are continuing to persuade Mohandas K. Gandhi, who came to Simla as an advisor, to join the Congress representatives at the conference. The Moslem League is said to resent his non-appearance.

May Go to Ottawa

TORONTO (CP).—Mayor J. W. Cornett of Vancouver said today he was "not sure" whether he would go to Ottawa to discuss with federal government officials the problem of housing in Vancouver. He said he might know something more definite later in the day. He spent last week-end at his home town of Dundalk, Ont.

Stalin Proposes Toast to 'Little People' of Russia

LONDON (CP).—The Moscow radio said today that Premier Marshal Stalin had proposed the following toast to "The Little People" of Russia at a victory banquet in the Russian capital:

"I should like to drink to the health of people of whom few hold rank and whose titles are not envied, the people who are considered to be cogs in the wheels of great state apparatus but without whom all of us—marshals and army commanders—are, to put it crudely, not worth a tinker's dam, because if one of the cogs goes out of commission the whole thing is done for."

"I propose a toast for the simple, ordinary, modest people—those cogs who keep our great state machine going in all branches of science, national economy and military affairs."

"There are very many of them. Their name is legion. They are tens of millions of people. They are modest people. Nobody writes anything about them. They have no titles and few of them hold rank."

"But they are the people who support us as the base supports the summit."

"I drink to the health of these people, our respected comrades."

Canadian National Lost 13 of 38 Ships

MONTREAL.—Thirteen of the 38 vessels owned or operated by the Canadian National Steamships have been lost by enemy action since the beginning of the war, R. B. Teakle, general manager, said here today.

The total gross tonnage of these ships was nearly 70,000.

Three of the five famous "Lady" passenger liners, which were so popular with Canadian and American tourists to the West Indies in peacetime, the Lady Hawkins, Lady Drake and the Lady Somers, were sunk.

The Lady Somers was serving in the Royal Navy. The Lady Nelson, former flagship of the fleet, was torpedoed, salvaged and restored to service as Canada's first hospital ship, and is now senior hospital ship. The Lady Rodney is in service as a Canadian army transport.

The Cornwallis, trade ship between Canada and the West Indies, and the Canatco, in service on the Great Lakes before the war, were sunk.

Among the vessels operated by the C.N.S.S. which were lost in this war, Europa, which was bombed during the heavy German raids on England while in drydock, and the Carolus, Saint Malo and the Christian J. Kampmann, all torpedoed and sunk in the Atlantic, and the Liseux, also lost in the Atlantic.

Mysterious Broadcast Claims Hitler Alive

LONDON (CP).—The Daily Sketch reported Monday its radio listening post had picked up a mysterious German-language broadcast Monday night saying Adolf Hitler is alive and safe. The broadcast was not heard by any other listening centre.

The Sketch said the unidentified radio went dead immediately after reporting: "The Fuehrer is alive and safe. He is living with some of his most faithful followers far beyond the reach of the enemy. Do not despair, Germans! The light will come again from the darkness."

Britain May Use B.C. Ports for Pacific War

VANCOUVER (CP).—The Vancouver Sun said in a newspaper story that "possibility of British use of B.C. ports for shipment of war supplies to their forces in the Pacific theatre is seen in the visit here Monday of two British officers who are on an inspection tour of shipping facilities on the west coast."

The officers are Gen. A. W. Lee and Brig.-Gen. E. Seymour Bell. The Sun added: "Last week it was announced that United States authorities will use B.C. ports for shipping war goods to their forces in the Pacific and first American ships are expected to arrive here for this purpose soon."

United Nations' Charter May Be Effective Before End of Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP).—A sufficient number of the United Nations may adopt the United Nations' charter in time to bring it into effect before the end of 1945.

This was the prospect shown today in a poll conducted at the World Security Conference by the Associated Press. Out of the first 26 nations to reply to a questionnaire, 20 predicted ratification by their home governments before the end of the year, six declined to fix a probable date.

Assuming U.S. Senate approval, as indicated by senators' replies to an Associated Press canvass in Washington, the feeling expressed by delegates here was that a real landslide of favorable votes by small nations would follow.

All of the major powers—Britain, the United States, Russia, France and China—plus 23 of the other 45 members of the United Nations must ratify it before the charter can become effective.

BRITAIN, U.S. ON LINE

The U.S., Britain and China, together with 18 small nations replying to the current question naire, already have been placed on the line as probable signatories before Jan. 1, 1946.

If Russia and France complete the Big Five line-up quickly, the full force of the new world organization almost certainly will come into effect this year.

Ratification predictions ranged from a "few weeks" in the case of China to "the earliest practicable date" in the case of the Philippines.

In several instances, as in Britain, Norway, Belgium, Greece, the delegations said that forthcoming elections would govern the date of ratification.

Against the unanimous prediction of final ratification, the comments of the various delegations formed a varying background. Asked whether they considered the San Francisco conference a complete or partial success or failure, some laced their statements with "ifs" or "buts."

India, for instance, said the parley was "as great a success as can be expected in the present state of international affairs."

Britain, Honduras, Paraguay, Peru, South Africa and the Dominican Republic came right out and termed the conference a complete success.

The INTERNATIONAL SCENE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

The question of Germany's future form of government—one of the great (and dangerous) problems in the regeneration of the Reich—already has been thrust to the fore by the German Communist Party, which Hitler and the late Gestapo Chief Himmler tried unsuccessfully to kill.

The Communists, having survived as a hunted underground organization throughout the Nazi regime, have now registered as a legal party in Berlin. They state in a manifesto that they don't favor a Soviet system for Germany at present, but instead an anti-Fascist regime within a democratic parliamentary republic—a coalition government friendly to Russia.

At first blush this failure to go all-out for a soviet may seem surprising. However, further consideration brings one to the conclusion that the Communists are proceeding with discretion along a logical line which they indicate in their manifesto when they say that a soviet system in the Reich "does not correspond with the development of Germany at the present moment. In other words, they figure the country isn't ready for this sharp change."

Island Man Grew Penicillin in Italy

VANCOUVER (CP).—Pte. Don MacRae of Duncan, former B.C. logging camp first-aid man, said following his arrival from overseas Monday, that he helped grow the penicillin which saved the lives of many Canadian soldiers. He said the crude penicillin was grown on the battlefields of Italy months before the wonder drug was supplied to field hospitals through regular army channels.

Pte. MacRae revealed he helped grow the penicillin spores in potato water and corn syrup under the guidance of a British pathologist attached to the Canadian Army.

"Certain types of infection were cleared up almost overnight and wounds that were formerly considered hopeless were soon healing in almost miraculous fashion," he continued.

He said penicillin plants were shipped over from Cairo, Water in which potatoes had been soaked overnight was found to be the best growing agent and a few chemicals were thrown in to breed development. The drug was ready for use within six days.

That was in 1943 and it was March, 1944, before penicillin was available through army stores, he said.

BRITAIN'S ELECTION FIGHT

AFTER THE NOMINATIONS HAD closed yesterday, Britons discovered that when they go to the polls on July 5 they will be able to choose their next Parliament from 1,675 candidates—53 less than the record number of aspirants who entered the fray in 1929—and from a larger variety of "parties" than ever before. Straight Conservatives and others supporting Mr. Churchill head the list with 621 nominees, the Labor Party under Mr. Attlee comes next with 601, and Sir Archibald Sinclair's "middle-of-the-road" Liberals are contesting only 305 seats. Remaining somewhat obscure are the political philosophies of candidates running under such banners as Independent Medical, Independent Sportsman, National Protestant, and Anti-Partisanist.

The wide variety of the national appeal has not obscured the main issue, Mr. Churchill and his Conservative Party stand for "free enterprise" and the Prime Minister set the pace with that battle-axe, Mr. Attlee and other spokesmen followed suit with the Labor Party's cry for nationalization of the basic industries of the country. Sir Archibald Sinclair—with no hopes of doing any better at the polls than electing sufficient Liberals to wield a balance of power—steering his campaign between the two extremes of Right and Left. With only 305 candidates, however, and lacking that definiteness in political leadership which the mood of the times would seem to demand, his followers meet the electors at a substantial disadvantage. Their policy nevertheless has a good deal to recommend it; it rests on a basic political philosophy which has stood the test through the years.

Apart from the three main contestants, as represented by their respective leaders, a fourth figure has entered the arena—Professor Harold Laski, chairman of the British Labor Party, the man who has some queer ideas of democratic parliamentarianism. He has already fallen foul of the Prime Minister by his warning that Mr. Attlee must attend the forthcoming conference of the "Big Three" merely as an observer and not in the role of one who automatically endorses the continuance of the Churchill government's foreign policy. "I did not expect there would arise in foreign affairs," said the Prime Minister the other day, "a single issue which could not be reconciled in an agreeable manner. . . . In accepting the invitation, Mr. Attlee showed he shared in this hopeful opinion." Mr. Churchill notes this "new figure" who "has jumped into no-toriety" to complicate and darken the situation by "repeated intervention."

Not so many months ago, incidentally, it was Mr. Laski who was placing the blame for the series of British reverses in the desert campaign on "the system." But we do not recall that he took any of his complaints back when defeats were exchanged for victories which drove the redoubtable Rommel out of Africa. "The system" had not changed. And it was this same economist, now chairman of the Labor Party, who argued on one occasion that a Labor government in office should possess "guarantees from the Conservative Party that its work (the Labor Party's) of transformation would not be disrupted by repeal in the event of its defeat at the polls."

What the intelligent British electorate thinks of this type of "democratic" government is its own business. The average Briton, tried and tested by more than five and a half years of the most horrible war the world has ever known, doubtless still has been able to preserve that happy knack of deciding all public issues by the application of the same brand of commonsense which has served well in the past. It will be surprising, therefore, if the majority of the British people decide that it is worth while to jeopardize the continuance of parliamentary democracy by the introduction of any radical departure at this juncture.

ARGENTINA ON THE SPOT

ON THE BASIS OF REPORTS FROM Mr. William L. Clayton, Assistant United States Secretary of State, Argentina has so far failed to live up to her side of the bargain by which she gained membership in the United Nations Conference on International Organization. To date, Mr. Clayton informed a military sub-committee studying Nazi potential preparations for a third world war, the Argentine, which houses 104 Axis spearheads hidden behind the fronts of business enterprises, has taken no action to eliminate them.

These are disturbing facts, although the dangers arising from the existence of the spearheads and Argentina's apparent unwillingness to liquidate them are not as serious now as they would have been several months ago. Their existence is known and the United Nations have the facilities for dealing with them. And such conditions, of course, will not be permitted to lead to the creation of another military force to plague the Western Hemisphere.

Nevertheless the Argentine will have to act to justify the support which the Latin-American nations and the United States gave to her application for entry to UNCTO. Col. Juan Domingo Peron, who has established a very complete replica of the Hitler machine in his country, and who really dominates the regime in Buenos Aires, cannot be allowed to think that he can run with the hare and hunt with the hounds in the world of the future. He knows, as does the rest of the world, that very complete dossiers have been assembled on Argentina and Argentina will have to "play ball" if she wants to enjoy the privileges of UNCTO membership. There was strong opposition to her entry into that fellowship, an opposition overcome only by the championship of democratic nations which wished to achieve a full hemispheric strength through representation of all powers in the Americas. That very support now puts Argentina's well-wishers on their mettle. And the big beef and grain producer of the southern continent can expect scant sympathy from them if she fails to abide by the pledges in the Act of Chapultepec.

In the meantime, the preparation of the force to maintain the peace can give Axis-minded interests in the Farrel-Peron regime little comfort in their planning for the creation of a new aggressive organization to menace humanity in the future.

DR. J. B. MUNRO

THROUGHOUT BRITISH COLUMBIA'S agricultural circles, where honest endeavour and conscientious work draw admiration, satisfaction will be expressed over the recent academic honors gained by Mr. J. B. Munro, deputy Minister of Agriculture. This able and popular figure has earned and received his Ph.D. from the University of Ottawa.

That is an achievement of unique merit for a man who has been carrying on his advanced work while busily engaged in an important field of provincial economy. For him there has not been the student's cloistered study interrupted by the affairs of everyday life. The honor adds another distinction to a career which has won wide recognition throughout this province. Apart from his academic successes—he took his B.S.A. at the University of Toronto in 1919 and his M.A. at the University of British Columbia in 1930—he had served as district supervisor of agricultural education at Armstrong and as field crop specialist for the British Columbia department before assuming the post of deputy minister in 1929.

Mr. Munro's part in the advancement of agriculture in this province has been widely recognized and his genial personality has facilitated progress in his particularized field. The appreciation of his work and his friendliness will be reflected in the pleasure with which his many friends note the prefix "Dr." to his name, which will, nevertheless, remain "J. B." to them.

MORE PIN-PRICKS

DID GENERAL CHARLES DE GAULLE order the closing of a mobile hospital unit because he was angered at seeing the British flag on the unit's cars in the French forces parade a week ago yesterday? "Lady Spears, wife of Maj.-Gen. Sir Edward Spears, former British Minister to Syria," said yes in London yesterday and laid the categorical charge against the French leader. She herself was obviously annoyed because she was responsible for organizing the institution for the Free French forces.

It would be unfair to Lady Spears and to General de Gaulle to elaborate on an "incident" of this kind in the absence of further information. It may be true; but it may also lend itself to a simple explanation. The gallant French leader may be far from a paragon of all the virtues of tactful diplomacy. Nor may Lady Spears win first prize for recognizing the fact that silence is often golden. Metaphorically speaking, therefore, the case in question may be nothing more serious than a storm in a teacup.

In the meantime, M. Henri Bonnet, French Ambassador to the United States, indicated in Washington yesterday that his government "is very eager to have an impartial investigation" concerning events in Syria and Lebanon. If and when that inquiry occurs, it is just possible that charges against British officers of "stirring up trouble" in the Levant, and General de Gaulle's alleged order closing the hospital unit because British flags appeared on the unit's cars, will fall into their proper place. But some people never seem to know when they have had enough trouble.

A BALANCED AGRICULTURE

THE MEAT SHORTAGE IN THE UNITED States has been largely created by one of those marketing errors which arise from a misunderstanding of marketing conditions. Cattle, to a varying extent, are fattened as they come off the ranges before they are slaughtered. In this manner a steer coming off the range weighing 300 pounds may weigh 400 pounds after being fattened and before being slaughtered. These figures are merely to illustrate the fact that if 1,000,000 steers are slaughtered at a loss of 100 pounds each because they have not been fattened there is a loss of 50,000 tons of meat. Price regulations for cattle on the hoof seemingly were established without regard for this very important factor in marketing. Consequently cattle were either left on the ranges or were not fattened.

It is an excellent example of the interlocking factors involved in marketing. Hogs, for instance, have to be fattened and their feed involves skim milk, a by-product of the milk market. Poultry run into the same difficulty. If concentration is centred on one market only, because it is more favorably situated or it can be more easily controlled in the interests of one group, the other markets suffer. The chief problem is a balanced agricultural production. The economic survey made by the marketing service of the economics division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture co-operating with the Department of Agriculture Economics of the U.B.C. should be of great assistance in British Columbia to obtain a balanced economy in agriculture.

Teeth for the League

By B. T. RICHARDSON
SAN FRANCISCO.

THE UNITED NATIONS repaired a mistake made 26 years ago at Paris when the delegates formally approved provisions that will permit the World Security Council to have military forces directly at its disposal to maintain the peace. These enforcement provisions fall short of creating an international police force with distinctive uniforms and independent allegiance; but even that might come in time. The plan approved in San Francisco provides, for the first time in history, military service not solely in the defence of one nation, but in defence of the common security.

White-haired Paul Boncour, the French delegate, reported the enforcement provisions at a commission meeting, the seminal stage of conference action. They were, he said, "the keystone of the peace structure." He defined the difference between the old League and the new: "Military assistance in case of aggression, ceases to be a recommendation made to member states; it becomes for us an obligation which none can shirk." It was, he said, a great historic development that the international organization "will cease to be unarmed." He said, "A collective force, the size, the degree of preparedness, the composition, and the general location of which will be determined beforehand, will have been placed at the disposal of the council to carry out these decisions."

AN ECHO FROM a quarter of a century could be heard in Mr. Boncour's report. He recalled that the French delegate, Leon Bourgeois had advocated an international force at Paris in 1919. But he politely went no further. That he could have reminded the conference how Lord Cecil and President Wilson and others, opposed the concept of an international force then. What Bourgeois said in Paris in February, 1919, was an accepted truth today: "Without military backing in some force and always ready to act, our league and our covenant will be filed away not as a solemn treaty but simply as an ornate piece of literature."

No dissent arose in San Francisco over the enforcement clauses in their final form. The French felt gratified, for in 1919 they had vainly sought an international army that would stand on the Rhine.

THE DRAFT DREW many ideas together. A chief Canadian proposal, that those who contribute forces must be represented in the decisions, was included. It had support from the Netherlands and other middle powers. In using force, the text said, the Council shall, before calling upon a member to provide armed forces, invite it to "send a representative to participate in the decisions of the Security Council concerning the employment of contingents of its armed forces."

This does not apply to use of facilities, the right of passage, or other assistance furnished by a member. In committee a long discussion had occurred on defining aggression. But rather than narrow the decision of the Council, the charter will leave it to decide what constitutes a threat to a breach of the peace, or an act of aggression. Having determined that a threat exists, the Council may as a first step call on parties to a dispute to accept provisional measures, "in order to prevent an aggravation of the situation." This clause was new.

Actual enforcement will involve, as the Council decides, such nonmilitary measures as interruption of communications and severance of diplomatic and economic relations. These are the non-military sanctions. The Council can follow up with air, naval or land operations, including "demonstrations, blockade and other operations."

ONE POINT RAISED by Canada and agreed was that members would not be required to provide forces in excess of those pledged by special agreement. The committee gave its blessing to the desire that the full cost of enforcement should be distributed fairly among all and its report approved a South African point that the cost of enforcement should fall upon the guilty state. Neither of these points were written specifically into the charter.

Each member or group of members of the organization will enter special agreements setting out in detail the "armed forces, assistance and facilities, including the right of passage" each will provide.

The commitment to fight to enforce peace is involved in the special military agreements. There is no question of outlawing war. Rather the delegates contemplated warlike operations to preserve peace. The time of service and the zones of occupation will be specified in the agreements. Each member must go back to its government and have its agreement ratified. Finally, to permit urgent measures, national air contingents will be available immediately their size and disposition determined on the advice of the military staff committee. This was the original Dumbarton Oaks plan.

IF THE ORGANIZATION finds itself dealing with a threat to peace in future, it will find that the delegates at San Francisco have made the machinery of military enforcement less centralized by providing for regional subcommittees, more precise in the obligation of a member to enter a military agreement, clearer in that each member will know exactly what it can be called on to perform in military contribution, and more representative in allowing a vote on the use of forces to all who contribute forces.

Still, thousands are crippled, blinded or deafened by industrial accidents every year, and they get by without being treated as mental cases. Treat men like men.

Why care if Nazi prisoners are not repentant? The more arrogant they feel, the more they will suffer when they see Germany.

Letters To The Editor

HONORS AND AWARDS

It has been noticed in the recent birthday honors list that history again repeats itself, in that most of the unoperational awards go to the commissioned ranks. One has only to note the list to see that the junior ranks do not receive the plums—though many of them have given faithful service over a period of years in peace and in war, and yet were too old or medically unfit to proceed overseas in this war. But they were good enough to give their all, and were "burnt up" because they could not go to the battle line. Such service requires courage—when they could have had good jobs in some of the war industries.

Those responsible for the recommendations for awards for unoperational services, should check very closely. There are plenty of deserving cases. Why is it that most of the unoperational awards go to the Air Forces? With all credit to them for the splendid job they have done and are doing, the fact remains that we happen to have other services, such as the navy and army. Again one has only to look at the list of awards, to see that the junior ranks do not receive the plums—though many of them have given faithful service over a period of years in peace and in war, and yet were too old or medically unfit to proceed overseas in this war. But they were good enough to give their all, and were "burnt up" because they could not go to the battle line. Such service requires courage—when they could have had good jobs in some of the war industries.

Let's be fair—sharp and share alike—an equal amount for each service—and the majority for the other ranks, junior and senior NCO's. They are in the majority in numbers, but the minority in awards, and without them the commissioned ranks could not percolate.

CHARLES AGNEW.

Underground Foiled Nazi Manoeuvre

A GERMAN military plan to start a pincers movement through Holland's North-Brabant province coinciding with Marshal Von Rundstedt's Ardennes counter-offensive last December was nipped in the bud, thanks to the alertness of two members of the Dutch underground, according to a story released recently by the Netherlands Government Information Bureau.

One of the men, who was operating a secret wireless transmitter in the village of Altena near the Maas River, learned that the Germans were massing 16,000 troops which were to attack from the north at the same time that Von Rundstedt was pushing through eastern Belgium. This underground worker, Jan de Rooy, immediately sent the information to his commander, who was known as Capt. Vlemming, and who was operating a receiver inside Allied lines.

A GERMAN V-bomb struck the captain's office just as he had put down the message. Although seriously wounded, he was able to hand the dispatch to the men rushing to his assistance, and to order them to bring it to Canadian headquarters. As a result the Allies were able to foil the enemy drive through North-Brabant Province, and thus to eliminate the threat of a pincers movement from the north. Capt. Vlemming is still confined to a hospital. Jan de Rooy was captured by the Germans and executed.

The Missing Vice-president

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE difference of opinion about how to designate a successor to President Truman proves how necessary it is to do something promptly about the presidential succession. If when the problem is only theoretical, as it is now, there are such divided opinions, we can see that the risks of national disunity and world wide confusion would be very great indeed if unhappily the office of president became vacant again. Mr. Truman's proposal may not be the best possible one. But there can be no doubt that he had to make a definite proposal, and that the President and Congress owe it to the country to settle the succession promptly—that is, before Mr. Truman goes abroad.

This means either that Congress should legislate, or, if Congress does not, that the President should appoint as Secretary of State a man recognized as having the qualifications for president. Either of these ways of settling the problem would be a satisfactory stop-gap. A final and permanent settlement need not be made in a hurry. As soon as Mr. Truman's successor is designated clearly, Congress and the country can take the time to deliberate carefully on this permanent remedy for this curious defect in our constitutional system.

THE immediate risk could be covered by Mr. Truman's proposal. For while it is highly debatable whether the Speaker of the House should be the normal successor, it just happens to be the fact that Mr. Rayburn is an experienced and widely trusted public servant. The objection to making the Speaker the normal successor is that this is inconsistent with the principle of the separation of powers, and that it could easily cause confusion if the party control changed at the mid-term elections and a new Speaker belonging to the opposition party became the heir apparent. But these objections would not matter if Mr. Truman's proposal were adopted now as a stop-gap measure.

The risk could also be covered by his appointing a new Secretary of State, especially if this were done with the understanding that the Congress would legislate as soon as the problem of the succession can be explored and debated.

THE permanent problem, it seems to me, may be defined as follows: When the president dies or is incapacitated, the vice-president succeeds him. Then there is a new president. But there is no vice-president. Therefore, the solution of the problem will be found in deciding how to choose a new vice-president.

Mr. Truman argues for the principle that no man should become president who has not been passed upon by the people of the country. That is, obviously, the sound principle, and the way to apply it unequivocally would be to provide for the election of a vice-president as soon as possible after the office of vice-president has become vacant. There is no particular reason why this could not be done in six weeks, and in the interval the Secretary of State could stand by to be, in case of emergency, acting president until the election of the new vice-president. There is some reason to think, though the language is obscure, that something like this may have been the original intent of the authors of the Constitution.

In any event, we must bear in mind that nothing is so essential to orderly government as an undisputed and universally accepted line of succession to the highest office in the land.

Business Women Re-elect President

At the annual meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club, held in the club-rooms, Mrs. J. Ingram Smith was re-elected president for a second term. Other officers are: Miss Minnie Beveridge, first vice-president; Miss Marjorie Press, second vice-president; Miss Isla Tuck, recording secretary; Miss Elizabeth Forbes, corresponding secretary; and Miss Lily Henderson, treasurer.

Miss Marjorie Press, secretary, told of the club's activities and of its support of charitable projects. Mrs. C. Farquharson, chairman of the legislative committee, listed legislation affecting women passed at the last session of the B.C. Legislature. Miss Minnie Beveridge reported for the program committee. Mrs. M. Hall spoke of the increased membership in the club and as national program chairman urged that the club work for a real Canadian federation project.

Mrs. Smith received a corsage bouquet as a token of esteem from the club.

22 Sightless People On 10-Day Vacation

Sunshine Camp opened June 21 when 22 sightless people with their guides arrived for a 10-day holiday. It was announced at a meeting of the board of directors of the Family Welfare Association. E. H. Wilson presided.

The new hut built by the St. John Ambulance Association will be formally opened in July, according to word received from the society.

Mrs. A. T. Spurgin reported that a Family Welfare of America Conference will be held at Strathcona Lodge School from July 30 to Aug. 4.

The board appointed the following members to the budget committee: D. R. Mackenzie, chairman; Ord Butters, Chas. Chivers. This committee will meet early in July.

Members of the board offered to assist in the Community Chest drive to be held early in September, funds from which enable the Family Welfare Association to carry on the work of assisting many citizens in various ways.

The general secretary's statistical report showed that 256 active cases were handled during the month which necessitated 310 visits in addition to 184 office interviews. Six hundred and eight telephone calls and 125 letters were handled during the month.

Princess Alice Says Good-Bye to W.D.'s

OTTAWA (CP) — Princess Alice, honorary air commandant of the R.C.A.F. (W.D.), Monday night said goodbye to the air force girls at Princess Alice barracks here at a ceremony which began formally and ended with Her Royal Highness walking among the girls and posing for W.D. amateur photographers.

A crayon sketch of a W.D. by Cpl. Gladys Clawson of Selkirk, Man., was presented to Her Royal Highness by Cpl. Morrison.

"You could not have given me anything I would like better as a souvenir," Princess Alice said as she accepted it. "Not but I have a right to a souvenir to take back with me to remind me of my association with this splendid corps."

Clubwomen

Road Rebuilding Rushed On Malahat

Work on Malahat Drive, closed several weeks ago for rebuilding a few miles at the summit, is being rushed to completion today with the construction firm working two shifts a day and on Sundays.

It is difficult to say exactly when the highway will be opened for traffic, said Works Minister Herbert Anscomb. One report suggested the construction work would be finished within a week and paving would take a similar time, but Mr. Anscomb believed this too good to be true.

While the road has been closed, traffic on the main artery of the island has been detoured via the Shawnigan Lake cutoff road.

Meanwhile the summer paving program of the Public Works Department, for which contracts were signed a few weeks ago, is getting underway on the island and the mainland.

WHOM DO WOMEN DRESS FOR?

Whether women dress to please men, to make other women jealous or because they just naturally have an instinct for adorning themselves always has been a moot question to which no conclusive answer ever has been given.

For a long time it seemed that the ladies who subscribed to the theory that the best way to get your man was to flag him down with chiffons had the best of the argument. But of late years, when so many members of the feminine sex have swiped papa's pants and still others have paraded in public with not enough clothes on to hide their bones, angles or fat, it has been apparent that women didn't care how they looked to the masculine eye and so it has left us guessing.

Hence it is of interest to learn that the male students in one of our largest universities have taken this matter up in a serious way and have made a portentous ruling on it. How the coeds will react to their decision will settle this momentous problem, which is doubtless the riddle over which the Sphinx has brooded in her desert sands through all the centuries.

MALE STUDENTS OBJECT

For in a bull session the present dates and future husbands went on record as being categorically opposed to brass danglers, messy make-ups, slacks, blue jeans (especially those rolled up to the knees), dirty shoes, head rags, brothers' shirts with the tails flapping in the wind and freak hair-do's.

Whether these lads have the courage of their convictions remains to be seen, but if they live up to their principles and refuse to step out with any little-bobby-soxer, who looks as if she had just been fished out of a river instead of coming out of a nice home, we will know for certain whether women dress to please men or not.

As for me, I'm on the sideline cheering the boys on in their noble effort to uphold feminine pulchritude. For, it seems to me, it is as much a part of women's duty to be as easy on the eyes as circumstances permit as it is to display any other virtue, and no one can deny that nothing is such a help in achieving this result as pretty clothes.

When we speak of a beautiful woman, nine times out of ten we are not thinking of her classical profile nor her peaches-and-cream complexion. We are remembering that lovely, soft, lacy confection she had on, or how smart she looked in a swanky tailormade, and only heaven and her dressmaker know what fluffy ruffles can do to a lanky teenager and how white chiffon can transform a homely Jane into a glamour girl.

The first thing that Eve did after she acquired wisdom by eating the fruit of the Tree of Knowledge was to go out and pin herself up a dress, and if that wasn't a tip to her daughters and granddaughters, it would take a surgical operation to put an idea into their heads. Most of them have taken it, and so have the pleasant spectacle of hordes of good looks to contemplate, instead of being forced to gaze upon fat grandpas in slacks and knobby-kneed, bony, maiden aunts in shorts.

Of course, during the war, women, and especially the younger ones, have been slipping sartorially, so to speak, so it is nothing less than providential that the college men are calling a halt upon their slouchiness, for they alone have the power to cope with it. Let them enforce the edict—pretty dress or no date—and papa can get back his clothes again.

Liberated Paris Barbers Shrewdly On Black Markets

PARIS (CP)—Parisians call it the system D.

The tag, taken from the untranslated verb "debrouiller," simply means keeping alive by fair means or foul in a country whose economy has been shot to pieces, and whose citizens are working with little or no co-operation to grab off the essentials of life for themselves.

The system reached full flower with tender nourishment from the black market. But it developed with the aid of sheer ingenuity, judicious contacts and a keen instinct for driving a good bargain.

Probably there is not a single resident of Paris who does not have something to do with the black market. There is some attempt at rationing and price control, but the results and enforcement are grimly inadequate.

Take, for example, Mme Durand, who has a husband, two growing children and herself to provide for. If she is going to feed her family legitimately (on the basis of her rations) she can buy 12 ounces of meat a week, 16 pounds of potatoes a month, 12 ounces of fats a month, four ounces of cheese (if available) and equally small amounts of vegetables, also if available.

A MORNING'S SHOPPING
 The ramifications of system D are evident to some degree during a normal morning's shopping expedition of the average housewife, Mme. Durand. When she leaves the house her shopping bag contains several well-wrapped packages.

One package is a candy bar little Rene received from a kind-hearted soldier in the street, the other day. Another is a bar of American soap. Madame received it in a swap with the congerie for six eggs, part of a dozen. The Durands received from some cousins in the country.

She ignores the queues of shoppers at the nearby stores. At the corner cafe, where she and her husband have enjoyed many an evening glass of wine, she is lucky enough to pick up a whole pound of butter. The proprietor has a farmer-brother and receives a few pounds a couple of times a week. The cafe owner is a good contact. The pound of butter without ration tickets cost $8. Last winter, when fuel was almost nonexistent, he sold her some wood.

Madame uses the chocolate bar to buy beet sugar at the grocer's. The meat situation is bad. That takes cash plus the bar of soap. But Madame Durand winds up with a small, tough piece fit only for boiling. On the way home she meets friends and they talk about their system D operations. A mutual friend bought a pound of black market sugar. She discovered it was white sand—only after she'd wasted some black market coffee to test it in. Another friend bought a ton of black market coal. It turned out to be more fireproof than asbestos.

Mother of Four Wins Press Award For Radio Talk

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto physicist, mother of four children, writer and radio personality, has been chosen for the Canadian Women's Press Club prize for 1945—the first year that the award has been open to radio—for her broadcast program on women's place in the postwar world.

Award of this year's prize to Mrs. Mattie Rotenberg for her talk over a trans-Canada network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, was announced by Kathleen McDowell, chairman of the memorial award committee.

The press club announced a year ago its 1945 award would be made in the field of radio writing for the first time in the 14-year history of the prize. The prize, in the form of an engraved gold medal and a $25 cheque, has been made in previous years for articles, short stories and biographical sketches in magazines and news writing.

Wife of Meyer Rotenberg, Toronto barrister, the 1945 winner was born and spent her childhood in Toronto before her family moved to Saint John, N.B. She did research in physics for the National Research Council, Ottawa, for three years, specializing on soft X-rays from light elements related to the structure of atoms.

Mrs. Rotenberg has been broadcasting for the CBC for five years. Prior to that she was editor of the Hadassah monthly publication, "As the Women Sees It."

Mrs. Rotenberg's broadcast asked of the postwar woman that she inform herself of national and international trends to take her place as a citizen whose ideas would be felt in personal relationships and in the functioning democracy in which she lives.

"To win the peace, we must raise a generation of children who will know how to handle the problems of keeping the peace," she said. "And it is in the home of the postwar woman that such children will be raised."

If securing their ration books by mail, servicemen should send their discharge papers when making application to their local ration board. The papers will be returned with the No. 5 ration book which will contain coupons valid only from the date of application.

It takes real tongue-tempting flavour to bring out compliments, and that's just what this sandwich has. A keen, alive tang that sharpens appetites, makes every bite taste like more. How to achieve this miracle of flavour? It's easy when you use Libby's Prepared Mustard. This nippy condiment spreads like butter, gives a distinctive flavour-lift.

Try this Delicious Cheese and Onion Sandwich:

Take 2 teaspoons grated raw onion, 2 teaspoons chopped parsley, and blend with small package of plain cream cheese. Spread Dutch brown bread with butter into which has been blended Libby's Prepared Mustard, (about 2 tablespoons mustard to 1/4-pound butter). Add filling and serve. Good with white bread, too.

"Salome, Where She Danced," Walter Wanger's spectacular technicolor production, has been held over at the Plaza Theatre. Yvonne de Carlo is starred in the lavish Universal picture which features one of the season's most extraordinary casts. Among the distinguished players are Red Cameron, David Bruce, Walter Siezak, Albert Dekker, and Marjorie Rambeau. J. Edward Bromberg, Abner Biberman and John Littel have important roles.

RIO THEATRE

Despite the fact that the trends toward willowy leading ladies, and lovely little Lois Collier stands just a shade over five feet, the Universal star expects to make big strides in filmdom. Sometimes known as "the pin-up girl of the pup tents," Lois came to films by way of the radio, where sizes are no greater problem than a simple adjustment of the microphone. Lois has the romantic lead in "Jungle Women," the Universal shocker that is now at the Rio Theatre, with Acquafetta in the title role.

ATLAS THEATRE

The "Barbary Coast," America's last frontier of untamed emotions, lives again in all its stark, rowdy realism in Samuel Goldwyn's production of that title which is at the Atlas Theatre, starring Miriam Hopkins, Edward G. Robinson, Joel McCrea and Brian Donley.

"Barbary Coast" offers Miriam Hopkins her greatest role as "Swan," a beautiful girl who invades this gold-mad city of lawless men and becomes as hard and as cold as the diamonds she wears.

B.C. Schools Serve Democracy Better Than 15 Years Ago

With the standards of usefulness of high schools being steadily raised, the B.C. schools are now serving democracy better today than 15 years ago, Dr. H. B. King, chief inspector of schools, concluded in a study of the character of student bodies included in the latest annual public schools report.

"The fact that in 1930 only 35 per cent of the students survived to Grade 9 and 34 per cent to Grade 10 while in 1942 70 per cent survived to Grade 9 and 59.6 per cent to Grade 10 shows that the character of the student body has changed," Dr. King said.

"While the high school student body contains few students of low ability, it has more of average ability. The high school is still probably too selective for some of the 30 per cent who do not reach Grade 9 and of the 40 per cent who do not reach Grade 10 are surely educable above the elementary level, but they are not likely to remain in high schools unless they are presented with a program adjusted to their capacities and interests.

"There are, however, those who believe that the high school is for an elite and, when they have to deal with merely average persons, they say that the standards have been lowered. The truth is that the standards of usefulness of high schools is being steadily raised."

TEACHERS BETTER

Dr. King said the increased enrolment would not have occurred if teachers had not been conscious of their obligations to the average student and had not improved their teaching procedures and their adjustment of curriculum to the capacities and needs of their students.

"In other words," he said, "the increased enrolment is due to the increased competence of the teaching body as a whole. It would not be too much to claim that this is universally true."

While statistics showed almost twice as many students now survived to Grades 11 and 12, it cannot be said that they are satisfactory, he said.

"There are wide differences between school and school. In some schools over 80 per cent of the Grade 10 pupils remain to Grade 12. In others less than 40 per cent remain.

"Our schools will not really be serving the interests of democracy until their holding power reaches the upper of these two extremes, and this in turn will not come about until it is generally recognized that all pupils above the level of the mental defective are entitled to be educated to the limit of their capacity."

Air Cadets Begin Camp at Pat Bay; Will Fly in Canso

AIR CADET CAMP, Patricia Bay, B.C., June 26. E. G. Simmonds, Pacific command air cadet liaison officer, arrived here Monday from Vancouver to take command of the annual Air Cadet Camp here. He is expected to remain for the duration of the camp.

Three hundred enthusiastic cadets arrived Monday on C.P.R. boats and on the E. & N. Railway from up-island, lower mainland and interior points. Also attending will be 14 cadets in charge of A.C. Sgt. H. B. Kent, 228 Douglas, from No. 89 (Victoria) Squadron. They left for Pat Bay early today in air force trucks.

Most of the cadets' time will be taken up with training, which will include drill, P.T., lectures on service subjects, firing with small arms and machine guns, sports and a gliding display. Cadets are eagerly looking forward to a flight in a Canso flying boat.

However, the same can not be said for the half-day K.P. they will have to do.

The first camp is from June 26 to July 5. To accommodate cadets unable to attend this session another will be held on the following 10 days. Later in the summer a special course will be conducted for future N.C.O.'s.

Camp will be a new adventure for many cadets, a few of whom have never seen a plane on the ground before. They will learn much about the service and its traditions.

Now stationed at Prince George, he spent most of his time in Alaska before enlisting four and a half years ago.

Prizes Presented At 39th Speech Day Of University School

Parents and friends were present last week for the 39th annual speech day of University School. Prizes were presented by Rev. Dr. T. S. Boyle, formerly president of King's College, Halifax. Rev. G. H. Scarrett, headmaster; R. B. Mathews, representing the Old Boys' Association; Dr. E. W. Boak, W. S. Cupples and F. E. Winslow, chairman of the board of governors, were on the platform.

The ceremony began with prayers, followed by the reading of the Scripture by Head Prefect Brockton. The headmaster then welcomed the guests and reported on the year's activities. He mentioned the high standard of work done by the army cadet corps.

Mr. Scarrett also mentioned the records of the former students of the school in this war and the last. He extended sympathy to the bereaved of 38 former students who had been killed. One minute's silence in their honor was observed.

Hundreds of old boys continue to serve, he said, adding that so far in this war former University School students had won 35 decorations, including one V.C. In the last war 70 gave their lives, and 21 won decorations. He said the record of the two wars was probably unequalled by any school of similar size and age in Canada.

Mr. Mathews spoke briefly of the interest of the old boys in all functions of the school. Dr. Boyle complimented the boys who were to receive awards, and encouraged those who did not receive any. He advised the boys, and reminded them in Mark Twain's words: "It ain't what we don't know that makes fools of us, but what we know that ain't true."

The occasion marked the 25th anniversary of Rev. Scarrett's association with the school. Head Prefect Brockton, on behalf of the masters and the prefects, presented him with a silver case.

The prize list follows:

Form 6a-1 Cave-Browne-Cave; form 6b-1 Allin, 2 Grant; form 5-1 Morant, 2 Foster; form 4-1 Cook, 2 Livingstone; form remove A-1 Duncan 2; 2 Ballantyne; form remove B-1 Pearson; shell A-1 Kingham; shell B-1 Barker 2; shell C-1 Albright; senior Scripture prize - B. A. M. and Kirk; junior Scripture prize - Davidson and Clifford 2; confirmation class, Catechism prize - Henley.

Headmaster's awards - Braide, Watt and Collett 2.

Chapman Cup for the best boy under 14 - Myers.

Ker Cup for the best boy in the school - Collett 1.

Tillicum Graduates Hold Annual Dinner

H. L. Smith, principal of Victoria High School, was guest speaker at the dinner sponsored by the Tillicum-Craigflower P.T.A. for the grade 8 graduates of Tillicum School.

He told his audience of the duties of both teachers and pupils. Staffs of Tillicum and Craigflower Schools attended and Mrs. S. C. Hawkins, president of the P.T.A., was toastmistress. M. Neilson, chairman of the Saanich School Board, proposed the toast to the graduating class. Betty May Bird responded.

Frank Merryfield, magician, contributed to the entertainment and sound films were shown by Maj. C. J. Milley and Mr. Foster of the Salvation Army War Services.

F. E. Winslow and E. W. McMullen have been re-appointed by provincial order-in-council to the board of directors of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Brentwood College Holds Speech Day, 22nd Prize-Giving

Membership in a fine school's personality is something to be proud of. Dr. J. M. Ewing, principal of Victoria College, stated during the course of an address given at the 22nd annual speech day and prize-giving ceremony of Brentwood College.

The day's activities opened with a cricket match between the school's first eleven and the Headmaster's eleven, a team comprising parents and old boys. R. Hinks, a former master of the school, captained the visiting team and A. E. Gillespie, an old boy, made 46 runs.

A large number of parents, friends and visitors gathered in the gymnasium for the prize-giving and were welcomed by A. C. Privett, headmaster, who spoke of the successes of the school, notably of the work in the junior forms. He dwelt on the school war record, stating that of 631 boys who had passed through the school, more than 300 were known to have been on active service in this war and 27 had given their lives.

Dr. Ewing in his address emphasized the importance of the day and occasion to those boys who would be leaving the school. Youth, he said, had not learned to wear a mask and thus the friendships formed at school were the most lasting because they were built on a firm foundation.

LESSON

"The power of discrimination is one of the greatest lessons to be learned at school and to be able to discriminate between the good and false is one of the most important things in life," he said.

Mrs. H. C. Holmes then presented the prizes and at the conclusion was herself presented with a corsage bouquet by Bernard Pelly.

Prize list is as follows:

Form prizes - Shell B. B. Pelly; Remove 1, McCormick; 2, Belliss 11; Grade 10, 1, Dunlop 1; 2, Belliss 1; 3, Dunlop 11; Grade 11, 1, Wilson; 2, Watson; Grade 12, W. C. Church; Grade 13, R. M. T. Butler.

Special prizes - Angus prize for science, N. Marshall; Curtis prize for mathematics, R. M. T. Butler; Williams prize for languages, R. A. Dunlop; Scott-Moncrieff prize for English, R. M. T. Butler; reading in chapel, R. Scott; special effort prize, D. V. Young.

Dunlop; intermediate challenge cup, R. G. McMahon; senior challenge cup, Victor Lidarum, and R. G. Lewis; interhouse cup, Lower House; Yarrow shield and medal, Ley.

Saanich High Holds Graduates' Dinner

A dinner in honor of the graduating class of Saanich High School was held recently with D. Hemphill as chairman.

J. E. Brown, school inspector, presented certificates, following which graduates, parents and guests attended a dance held under the auspices of the P.T.A.

Presenting toasts were Nora Deveson, "The King," Clifton Colpitts, "The Graduating Class," Arnold Thomlinson, response; Louise Woods, "Grade XI"; Grace Mears, response; Margaret Harrison, "The Staff"; Miss K. M. Baker, response. Alan North presented the valedictory address, and D. E. Breckenridge, principal, spoke briefly.

Class prophecies were made by Mae Ferguson, while Bruce McLellan gave a humorous recitation. Trustee A. Sansbury, chairman of the school board, also spoke to the graduating class.

The dinner was prepared under direction of Mrs. R. Dymond and Miss Jean Beckwith arranged place cards and flowers.

By PETE SALLAWAY

BROOKLYN and Detroit are still setting the pace in the major ball leagues, with the fans still trying to figure out just what is holding the Dodgers up there on top in the National. Even the scribes who studied the Dodgers in spring training are amazed, as most of them were pretty well convinced the team was a cinch for the second division and possibly the cellar. Actually the fans realize the team has been going well because it has been playing good baseball. What puzzles them is why it has been playing good baseball. The Dodgers put together an early season winning streak and Sunday had another eight-game procession cut off by Boston Braves in the second fixture of a doubleheader.

FOR ONE THING, the hitting has been timely, with Dixie Walker knocking the ball egg-shaped. Opposing pitchers who last year considered games with the Dodgers as something of an open date, have been getting their ears pinned back this year. A sturdy, peppery little guy named Ed Stanky was shoved in at second base when manager Leo Durocher voted himself out of the line-up after a couple of games, and he and shortstop Ed Basinski have been working together in great fashion. Stanky has also been getting on base more than a little as lead-off man in the batting order. The pitching has been very, very good. Tom Seaver, Hal Gregg, Vince Lombardi and the venerable Curt Davis have shown they can go the distance.

DETROIT, with those pitching twins Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout, back on the winning van and slugger Hank Greenberg slated to move back into the line-up shortly are going to be tough to beat in the American. Despite his 34 years and the fact that he has not been active in baseball for more than four seasons, it is considered possible that Greenberg, recently discharged from the armed forces, will be just the man to swing the championship to Detroit. Big Hank will return to the baseball wars with the best wishes of every fan and rival player. They are all pulling for him because, in addition to being a fine fellow, he is more than just a baseball "player" trying to resume an interrupted career. He will be watched as a symbol of hope to all the other ball players in the services who fear their absence from the game might impair their effectiveness and money-earning capacity. He is in the nature of a test case; the answer to the question: Can the major league stars in the services come back?

GREENBERG is the first of the outstanding stars to try a comeback after prolonged service during which he and baseball were complete strangers. He's been around a lot since he was drafted in 1941 but not around the major leagues. Around the world would be more like it. If anybody can make such a comeback Greenberg is the fellow. Few years ago Detroit wanted both Hank and Andy York in the line-up and Greenberg was nominated for an outfield post with York taking over at first base. At the start Hank was anything but impressive. His feet seemed to go in too many directions and he staggered under fly balls like he was chasing butterflies. But he worked at it, hour after hour, day after day, and when the season opened he was a fixture in the outer garden. Good enough, in fact, to win a second most valuable player award after having previously received one as a first baseman.

Services' Track Meets

Lower island track and field championships for men and women will be staged next month by the newly-organized Inter-Service Sports Association. July 11 the women's inter-service meet will be staged, followed on July 18 by the men's event. Both competitions will be held at Macdonald Park. Meets will attract entries from Pat Bay, Royal Roads, Givens, Naden, and all army camps located on the lower portion of the island. Final plans for the women's meet were to be drawn up at a meeting of the women's services sports committee at Work Point today. Plans for the second half of the women's football league will also be discussed. At the present time Kildonan House occupies first place with 10 points with Moreby House, C.W.A.C. and Pat Bay tied for second place, each with eight points. In the fall it is planned to hold a big boxing tournament as well as a swimming gala. In charge of the men's promotions are Lt. Cmdr. Alex Park, Capt. Sandy Spiers, FO George Hough and J. J. Morse, Y.M.C.A. war services supervisor.

Sports Club Score Fastball Victory

Sports Club senior B fastballers added another win to their fast-growing list last night at Central park, defeating the Spruce Products 10 to 3.

Getting away to a good start, the clubmen scored two runs in the first inning, adding to this with a homer in the third by Tommy Johnson. In the seventh they loaded the bases with Jones, Lindsell and A. Williams getting on. Jones scored when R. Williams walked while a single by G. Sage brought in another. Two more runs came in on hits by Watson and Burt, giving the sportsmen a seven run lead. In the ninth A. Watson smashed a three bagger with two men on base.

The last of the seventh saw the wood workers stage a three-run rally. With two men on base, Latham socked a home run. Lloyd Jones was the winning pitcher.

In other games Clerks Union defeated the Hudson's Bay 10 to 5 in the women's league while K.V.'s juvenile boys won from the Kiwanis O.K.'s 12 to 9.

Pigeon Racing

The Victoria Racing Pigeon Club held its eighth old bird race of the season over the week-end, from Eugene, an air line distance of 302 miles. Twelve lots were represented and 43 birds competed.

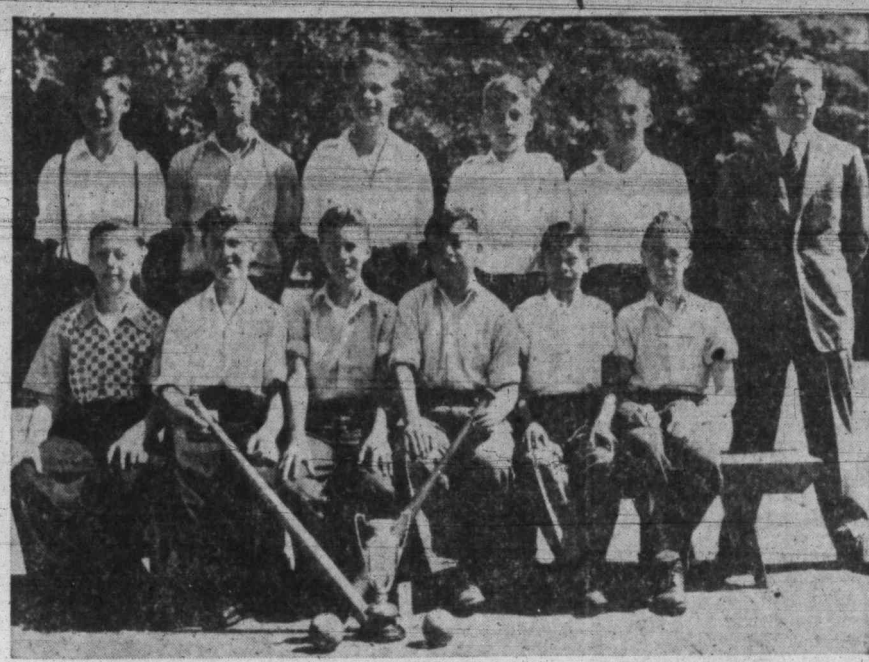

The winning bird, owned by A. Hardy, covered the distance in 10 hours 39 minutes. Hardy won all pools and is also the winner of the Moore-Whittington Trophy.

Results follow:
Hardy 874.51
McPherson 874.62
Burt 875.30
Clearview 799.08
Aronson 769.35
Stowe 762.23
Cox 758.63
Eva 756.41
Corbett 754.67
Knut 754.67

W. Blackstock failed to time in. The next race will be from Medford, an air line distance of 420 miles. It will be a two-day race and birds will be basketed Wednesday noon to 12.45. Clock setting, Friday, 7.30, at Kings Road.

NORVANS WIN

VANCOUVER (CP) — Arnold and Quigley dropped back to the basement spot in the senior-city baseball league by losing 6 to 3 to Norvans here Monday night. A home run by Jack Fisher of Norvans with two on bases in the fifth inning clinched the victory. Ralph Strong homered for A and C with none on in the seventh.

CITY SCHOOLS' SENIOR FASTBALL CHAMPS—With an undefeated record for the season North Ward School won the senior boys' fastball championship in competition with teams from other city schools. After winning the northern section crown the Wards, under Coach Norm Forbes, defeated South Park, victors in the southern section, in a sudden-death game for the title. Seen in the above picture, from left to right, front row: Ray Clarke, George Robertson, Ray Storey, Maurice Lee, Quenton Mar, George Wagg; back row: Thomas Der, Jimmy John, Eric Nielson, Albert Casey, Bob Lyons, and Coach Forbes.

P.N.W. Golf

Jim Robertson Leads

VANCOUVER — Slim, trim Jimmy Robertson of Quilchena Club, ordinarily the hard-luck player in Vancouver golf, shot to the front at Point Grey yesterday in the first 18 holes of the P.N.W. qualifying round with a par 71. He was the only one of the more than 200 contestants to equal par.

The co-favorites—Harry Givan of Seattle, Wash., and Kenny Black of Vancouver—had trouble with par. Playing under a hot sun, Givan, holder of numerous Pacific Northwest titles and P.N.W. G.A. champion in 1936-37, and Black, the duration Canadian amateur titleholder, finished with 74s, three over par. Chuck Hunter, 11 times winner of the Tacoma city championship, and J. Ellis of Vancouver carded 74s, while Bill Welch, United States public links champion from Spokane, Wash., and H. W. Andrews of Tacoma scored 75s.

Joe Ahern, Oregon state champion from Portland, carded a 76. Jimmy McLarnin of Los Angeles, former world welterweight boxing champion, finished with 79; Harry Umbinetti, Seattle, former Washington state champion, and Harold Salvador of Portland both had 77s.

The second 18 holes of the qualifying round was being played today. Other scores included: F. Clarkson, Uplands, Victoria, 78.

Castilloux Gets Off Floor to Score Kayo

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Dave Castilloux, Montreal, rose from a nine-count Monday night, knocked out Joey Bagnato, Toronto, in the fourth round, and raised the Canadian welterweight boxing championship. The champion, who also holds the Dominion lightweight title, weighed 136½ and Bagnato, 137.

Castilloux knocked out the challenger one minute and 59 seconds after the gong started the fourth round. Bagnato had an edge in the third and the first two were about even.

After hitting the floor for a count of nine, the Montreal fighter caught Bagnato with a left, drove him to the ropes and put him away with a right cross.

CRICKET TOMORROW — Oak Bay and Royal Navy cricket teams will meet in a match tomorrow afternoon at Windsor Park, starting at 2.30.

The extra play after all three had finished with 96s. There were 32 qualifiers. Elimination of Mrs. Todd-Finney left Mrs. E. Jackson of the Uplands Club in Victoria as the only island contestant left in the championship round. She carded 86.

Musgrave Blows Hot

V.M.D. Whips Eagles

With Tommy Musgrave hurling hitless ball for six innings, league-leading V.M.D. marked up an 8 to 2 triumph over the last-place Eagles in Monday night's city league game. It was the shipyard's 10th victory in 11 starts and moved them two and a half games in front of the second-place Navy.

Wednesday night the Navy and third place R.C.A.F. hook up at 6.30. For six innings Musgrave had a no-hit-no-run game to his credit but young Ellis, Eagles' second baseman, came up with a clean line single in the seventh and from then on Musgrave eased up to think the ball up to the plate quite often giving his teammates a chance to make the putouts. It was not until the last inning that the Eagles managed to save a shutout, pushing across two runs when pinch hitters Pat Lamone and Art Worth came through with safeties. Musgrave struck out 11, gave up seven hits and walked four. Young Harold Lovell went the distance for the Eagles, being picked for 11 hits while he fanned two and walked five. He gave up runs in six of the nine innings.

Brian Forster, formerly with the R.C.A.F. club, turned out at third base for the V.M.D. and, along with shortstop Charlie Strouger, picked up three hits in five trips to the plate. Ronnie Benn, talkative first baseman of the Eagles, had two for three, including a double.

Short scores: R. H. E. V.M.D. 8 11 1 Eagles 2 7 4 Batteries: Musgrave and Patterson; Lovell and Carson.

Reynolds New King Of Night Pitchers

Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds no longer is "king" of night game pitchers in the major leagues.

An off-day study of this year's box scores, as the big league teams spent yesterday traveling, revealed that the third baseman-turned-twirler, undisputed after-dark master in 1944, has won only two of six starts under the lights this season.

Replacing him at the top is Allie Reynolds, fireball right hander of the Cleveland Indians, who is unbeaten in four starts. Closely bunched behind Reynolds are Sig Jakucki of the St. Louis Browns, Van Lingle Mungo of the New York Giants, and Jack Creel of the St. Louis Cardinals. Each are undefeated in three starts.

Two of Reynolds' victories were against the Browns. He beat the American League champions 2 to 1 on May 2 with a neat 13-inning four hitter. He beat the Browns again on June 15, 5 to 2. He whipped Washington 3 to 2, on May 23, and only last Friday turned back the Chicago White Sox, 2 to 1, with a masterful three hitter.

These are the leading 11 night game pitchers in the majors, based on win-loss percentages for two or more games:

Player	W.	L.	Pct.
Reynolds, Cleveland	3	0	1.000
Jakucki, St. Louis Browns	3	0	1.000
Mungo, New York Giants	3	0	1.000
Creel, St. Louis Cardinals	3	0	1.000
King, Brooklyn	2	0	1.000
St. Louis Cardinals	2	0	1.000
O'Connor, Detroit	2	0	1.000
Calwell, Chicago White Sox	2	0	1.000
Box	1	0	1.000
C. Barrett, Cardinals	1	0	1.000
Burke, Cardinals	1	0	1.000
Gregg, Brooklyn	1	0	1.000

Graves Says Peace Rests On Charter

"We have fought together and now we are going to live the peace together," Sandham Graves, editor of the Daily Colonist, told the Victoria Gyro Club Monday at the Empress Hotel. He spoke of machinery designed by the San Francisco World Security Conference to maintain peace.

The horrible realities of war made apparent by German conquest have fixed in the national mind of suffering nations that the charter of San Francisco must be the end of war, he said.

There must be, he continued, a basic change of heart by aggressor nations if peace is to be made workable. Peoples of the world must realize first and foremost they are world citizens and not merely inhabitants of isolated self-contained areas.

Purpose of Dumbarton Oaks as set out in the United Nations Charter is: To maintain peace; to develop friendly international relations; to achieve international co-operation in solution of world problems, and to act as the "centre of harmony" for achievement of these ends, he said.

The charter rests on the sovereign equality of all nations and depends for success on the world's peoples, he said.

"We have fought and are now working for a higher and better world and you and I can help win it," said Mr. Graves.

James Whalley of Zeballos has been appointed by provincial order-in-council to the board of management of Nootka Mission General Hospital at Ceepeece, V.I.

Assaults Wife; She Pays Fine

When John Murray was fined $10 by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today for assaulting his wife, Grace, the magistrate thoughtfully asked the husband if he wanted time to pay the fine. "No thank you, sir," Murray replied. "I'll get it from my wife." She gave it to him.

Joseph Carlow was fined $10 in Esquimalt police court today for dumping rubbish on Craigflower Road.

Identity of Body Solved By Dentures

A dentist's identification of a set of dentures has solved the identity of a nude male body found on the beach at Vargas Island.

The body, as a result of the examination of the teeth by a Seattle dentist, has been identified as that of John Sigurdson, 8519 14th Avenue, Seattle, one of the four crew members of the Seattle fishing boat Summit which foundered off the west coast of Vancouver Island May 23, B.C. police headquarters here reported today.

Previously, police had believed the body to be that of John W. Irwin, 1309 Roosevelt Avenue, Yakima, Wash., now the only missing crew member. Relatives in Yakima said the description of the dentures did not fit those of Hale. Police have already recovered the bodies of Louis A. Larsen, skipper and owner of the Summit, and Lanson Moyer, both of Seattle.

The plan was suggested some time ago by R. W. Mayhew, Victoria M.P.-elect, who urged that after the officer's training unit was removed from Gordon Head camp the camp be made available to Wartime Housing Ltd. for conversion to a community centre to house families of servicemen fighting overseas.

Mr. Mayhew took Wartime Housing officials to the camp and discussed the project with them. It was suggested that one of the camp buildings be used as a school, another building as a commissary and the remaining buildings for housing accommodation.

The army, however, at that time was unwilling to release the camp for civilian use and converted it into a training centre. Mr. Mayhew said that with the speeding up of Canada's effort in the Pacific war it appeared unlikely the army would be willing to turn over the unused camps but would probably find some other use for them in the near future.

Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., formerly G.O.C.-in-chief, Pacific Command, now M.P.-elect for Nanaimo, had suggested the three unused camps at Patricia Bay be made available to civilian housing authorities. He suggested that the unused camps be converted in a manner similar to those on Sea Island near Vancouver.

He wired Reconstruction Minister C. D. Howe to this effect. At the same time he has wired Defence Minister A. G. L. McNaughton urging that M.D. 11 headquarters be returned to Victoria.

Mr. Mathews was born at Regina in 1903 and came to Victoria 10 years later. He attended University School and Victoria College for two years. He was graduated from U.B.C. in arts in 1925 when he was president of the graduating class and a member of the board of university publications.

From 1925 to 1928 he attended University of Saskatchewan where he was graduated with a Bachelor of Laws Degree and was president of the College of Law, editor-in-chief of University Publications and a member of the Students' Council.

Mr. Mathews took honor standing in examinations for admission to the bars of Saskatchewan and British Columbia. He is a member of the Dominion Bar Association and the Law Societies of British Columbia and Saskatchewan. He has specialized in commercial law.

A director and vice-president of the Uplands Golf Club, Mr. Mathews is also an enthusiastic tennis player, having been champion of the B.C. Electric courts for several years. He was a member of the Victoria Rep Rugby team which played for the McKechnie Cup.

The board also recommended the agreement should contain a clause which would provide that on a union member requesting the company to deduct from his wages the amount of his monthly dues, the company shall recognize and act on such a request. George A. Wilkinson of Victoria, employees' representative on the board, filed a minority report in which he said he was in full agreement with his associates on the question of voluntary check-off of union dues.

On the matter of union security, however, he felt that a stronger clause should be inserted than the proposed maintenance of membership.

School Closing Wednesday

School is out tomorrow and more than 5,000 children in Victoria will be free to pester mother from morning until night instead of getting into teacher's hair. The beaches and parks will divert some of their surplus energies, and it is anticipated that many of the older children will take summer jobs on farms and in the berry patches.

Classes will not reconvene until Tuesday, Sept. 4, when the children will return to schools made spic and span by the summer cleaning and renovating program. George Jay and Quadra Primary schools will be completely redecorated and renovated indoors, school board officials said.

Victoria High School will be used during July and the first week in August by the summer school of education and during the latter part of August it will be cleaned and maintenance work done.

During the summer months the heating plants in all schools will be thoroughly overhauled too.

Army Not Likely To Release Camps As Civilian Houses

It was believed unlikely here today that the army would be willing to make available presently unused army camps near Patricia Bay airport for housing civilians and servicemen's families.

The plan was suggested some time ago by R. W. Mayhew, Victoria M.P.-elect, who urged that after the officer's training unit was removed from Gordon Head camp the camp be made available to Wartime Housing Ltd. for conversion to a community centre to house families of servicemen fighting overseas.

Ralph B. Mathews Named Assistant To Vice-Pres. B.C.E.R.

Ralph B. Mathews, B.A., LL.B., has been appointed assistant to the vice-president of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. at Victoria, it was announced today by A. T. Goward, vice-president of the company. Mr. Mathews has been with the company's legal department here since 1932.

RALPH B. MATHEWS

A graduate of the University of British Columbia and the University of Saskatchewan, Mr. Mathews is widely known in the city through his association with community affairs. He is a director of the Community Chest and director of publicity. Extra company activities include serving as first president of the B.C. Electric Office Employees' Association and as organizer of the firm's first Victory Loan campaign.

Mr. Mathews was born at Regina in 1903 and came to Victoria 10 years later. He attended University School and Victoria College for two years. He was graduated from U.B.C. in arts in 1925 when he was president of the graduating class and a member of the board of university publications.

Firemen Kept Loss At Furniture Store Fire to Minimum

Prompt and efficient action by the city fire department kept loss at a minimum in the fire which swept through the top floor of the three-story Standard Furniture Company, 337 Yates Street, at 7 Monday evening. R. C. Denny, manager of the company, said today.

Firemen who raced to the scene quickly dragged hoses to the roof of the building as gases on the third floor exploded and blew out panes of glass onto the street below. Other hoses poured water through the broken windows into the fire. Then firemen forced their way in a back door on the third floor to get at the blaze.

Lieut. F. Briers was the only casualty. He was overcome by smoke when he had to take off his mask to give orders to his crew. Shortly after, he had recovered and was back directing the firemen again.

Firemen believe the fire started at the south end of the building on the third floor, to which fire damage was almost completely confined. Today it is only the south end where the floor shows any signs of being charred.

Baby buggies, cots and other furniture were badly charred and buried but towards the north end of the floor, although mattresses were burned and paint cracked by the heat, the damage was less.

Mr. Denny said duplicates of all the display furniture which was destroyed or damaged have been replaced from stocks in warehouses and placed on other floors, where customers were able to view them today, as the company still carried on its normal business.

Water damage was slight to the second floor, seeping through the south corner. Firemen covered second floor goods with tarpaulins soon after they reached the scene.

Need of Housing For Aged Desperate

A two-hour conference was held today between city, Saanich, and provincial welfare authorities to consider the growing problem of what is to be done to house aged people who need care but not hospitalization. Ald. F. G. Mulliner, chairman of the city's welfare committee, said following the meeting.

Attending the meeting were Ald. Mulliner, Ald. J. D. Hunter, Acting Mayor Ed. Williams, city welfare officer; Mrs. Francis Barr, council of social agencies; D. K. Kennedy, emergency shelter administrator; L. J. Eekman, acting building inspector; A. J. Patton, city solicitor; C. P. Ennals, Saanich welfare officer; V. McN. Rolfe, city wiring inspector; and Miss Florence M. Erickson, assistant provincial inspector of welfare.

During the long discussion, finding of suitable accommodation for the old people was thoroughly canvassed with little success, Ald. Mulliner said. There are over 100 waiting now to get into the aged women's home, he said. There are no figures as to how many old men need care. The committee will continue to work on a concrete proposal, for the building, if necessary, of some accommodation for these old people, Ald. Mulliner said. "They are not in need of hospitalization," he stressed, "but do need assistance and attention, so that they cannot live by themselves." He pointed out that three convalescent homes have closed in Victoria in the past few months and this has made the situation serious.

Gales Not Unusual In June

Monday's 45-mile-an-hour gale was nothing unusual, a meteorological official said today. South-west winds are common at this time of year. Last year in June there was a maximum west wind of 40 miles an hour, in July the maximum was 45, in August 34, and in September 38 miles an hour.

The highest wind attained in Victoria in recent years was a 54-mile-an-hour west wind in June, 1930. Highest in the last 15 years was July, 1935, when the wind reached 52 miles an hour. Others were a 50-mile-an-hour gale in 1934 and a 46-mile-an-hour wind in 1940.

There is an average of three high winds for the month of June and in 1930 as many as 11 were recorded. A gale has blown up during every summer month in the last five years, and the average for the months May to September is 13 miles an hour of wind.

Today's 26-mile-an-hour gale blew up the clouds, which overcast the sky until noon.

The weatherman said it was a nice day Tuesday until 2 in the afternoon, when the wind came up. The temperature had gone over 70.

This morning overcoats were quite popular.

Lt. Gov. Woodward Says Canadians Did Great Job

Back from his trip overseas, Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward said: "There's a lot of rebuilding to be done all over Europe."

It will be at least two years, he estimates, before the shattered countries of Europe can hope to resume normal world trade. The economy is upset and the countries are laboring under the handicap of fuel, food and worker shortages.

"I found the troops in great shape and I'm immensely proud of the job they've done," said His Honor on arrival Monday in Vancouver.

The lieutenant-governor, who made the trip to Europe expressly to meet the Canadians on the western front, is expected to return to Government House Thursday or Friday, according to Capt. J. G. Cromack, private secretary, who came home ahead of the governor.

Mr. Woodward, who had every opportunity of seeing how the Canadians overseas were faring, observed that arrangements for catering to the needs of Canadian servicemen were much better than they were in the first World War.

The manner in which Canadian troops and troops from B.C. conducted themselves on the field of battle has been a credit to their province, His Honor said.

"I don't believe the boys have received enough credit for the work they did."

Discuss Secession

A delegation from Ward 6, Saanich, met with the provincial cabinet today to discuss secession of that ward from the municipality.

Among the group were Sydney Pickles, William Kersey, W. D. Mitchell, Capt. Nat. Gray, William Bullock and C. T. D. P. Whitehouse.

A sentence of three years' imprisonment for each of the four offences charged against Roy Lindley to run concurrently was imposed by Judge H. H. Shandley in county court today.

After electing for speedy trial on all counts, Lindley entered a plea of guilty for each one.

Accused was charged with stealing an automobile May 27 and on the same day stealing a club bag containing articles of clothing belonging to Percy R. Williams. He was also charged with breaking and entering the room of M. Pickering at the Y.M.C.A. on that day and committing theft.

While out on bail for these offences, he attempted to break and enter W. J. Stoddart jewelry store.

Termining Lindley "a public menace," His Honor took into consideration his plea in giving sentence.

Facing Perjury
Bernard Kolmes, skipper and owner of the fishing craft Slepner, in city police court today denied he had been in Vancouver Island on Dec. 2, 1944, as Lloyd C. Ritter, facing two charges of perjury, is alleged to have said the fisherman was, while giving evidence in an assault case.

The charges allege Ritter perjured himself, both before Magistrate H. C. Hall in police court, and later before a county court, by saying he had driven Capt. Kolmes in his cab to two beer parlors and, later, to the Fishermen's Wharf, when, in truth, the captain had been in Vancouver.

Capt. Kolmes told the court he had not been on Vancouver Island between Oct. 13, 1944, and April of this year, and that, though he knew Ritter and had ridden in his taxi a number of times, he had not ridden in Ritter's taxi on December 2.

Ritter was remanded to July 4 on both charges. He is represented by P. J. Simmott.

Margaret West pleaded guilty to owning a dog which had bitten a person, and the magistrate remanded her to July 3 to give her an opportunity of disposing of the dog.

Eight motorists were fined

Town Topics

City police report today an attempt was made to enter Johnny's Coffee Shop on Fort Street. Police found a small window on the Quarda Street side of the shop had been broken and the window jamb had been jammed. Thieves, however, did not enter the shop.

Robert E. White was fined $15 or three days by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Esquimalt police court Monday. Police Chief Gilbert Stancombe told the court White, while driving his dairy truck, had dropped a bottle on the traveled portion of Esquimalt Road and had failed to remove the broken pieces. A motorist was fined $5 for failing to stop at a stop sign.

The Seafarers' International Union of North America, approved by the Federal Labor Department as bargaining agent for 364 employees aboard the C.P.R. Princess ships on this coast, will open negotiations immediately for an agreement with the company. Approval of the Seafarers' Union by Ottawa was learned today. Bargaining representatives will be H. Murphy, J. Markey, D. Joyce and J. Scotland.

Meet May Discuss B.C. Freight Rates

Questions of freight rates may come up for discussion at the Dominion-Provincial conference opening in Ottawa Aug. 6, it was intimated today. While Premier John Hart today was not ready to announce what the B.C. delegation will discuss, the question could be considered under the transportation category on the agenda received from Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The part B.C. will play in the conference was discussed today at the provincial cabinet. While the staff which will accompany Premier Hart has not yet been named, the far-reaching character of the conference suggested that besides the Premier and Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, Provincial Secretary G. S. Pearson, Education Minister H. G. T. Perry, who has worked on rehabilitation, Works Minister Herbert Anscomb and Mines Minister E. C. Carson and possibly Agriculture Minister K. C. McDonald would attend.

Beside this group a staff of experts and department heads will also be selected. Premier Hart is putting top priority on the conference. This will curb certain other activities.

Canning Sugar Ration Holds

Although the world shortage has resulted in a cut in the Canadian sugar ration for the balance of the year, there has been no change in the number of preserve coupons set aside for canning purposes, according to word from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board regional office.

An allotment of 10 pounds per person was made this year for canning and this quantity was obtainable by use of some of the preserve coupons, each good for half a pound. Canada has been able to maintain the special allotment for canning sugar.

"On March 15 preserve coupons 43 and 44 fell due for canning sugar, and on May 17 preserve coupons 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55 and 56 became valid, the W.P.T.B. announced.

The next and final series falls due July 19. Ten preserve coupons will become good and these will be the yellow "P" coupons. The numbers which may be used for canning sugar July 19 are P4, P5, P6, P7, P8, P9, P10, P11, P12 and P13. All these coupons remain valid until declared otherwise.

"World sugar supplies are running low and it recently became necessary for Canada, the U.S. and Great Britain to review the whole situation. As a result, it was agreed that those three nations should draw exactly the same quantity from the Allied sugar pool and this now works out at about 71 pounds per person per year.

$2.50 each for parking offences, and two others paid fines of $5 each for failing to produce their driver's license.

Suggest Reception For Returned Men
Maj. Carl Fallas requested Citizens' Rehabilitation Council at an executive meeting Monday evening to ask the Department of Veterans' Affairs to keep their medical branch open during the evening. He said this should be done so that returned men now in employment may have medical attention outside of working hours.

Committee members decided a recommendation that civic receptions be held for returning men be forwarded to the city council and municipalities. Forrest Shaw, president, pointed out that many other Canadian cities hold receptions in honor of overseas personnel on their return.

A brief asking for improved treatment in placing disabled men will be forwarded to the Department of Veterans' Affairs. Members noted that several disabled men had been sent to apply for jobs unsuitable for them.

Submit Sockeye Dispute to Ottawa
VANCOUVER (CP)—Deadlock between sockeye salmon fishermen in B.C. and canners over a complete price agreement for the 1945 catch took a new turn Monday night when both parties agreed to refer the matter to the Minister of Fisheries in Ottawa.

Fishermen reiterated their stand of no fishing until a definite signed agreement has been made for all prices with canners. The price now offered for sockeye is 14¢ cents a pound on the Fraser River and 13¢ cents elsewhere. Prices for cohoes and other fish have not been set.

The S.P.C.A. must establish its charges in court that ponies being rented out in Victoria are cruelly treated before the City Council would be justified in revoking the license issued to the owners. A. J. Patton, city solicitor, said in a report to the council. The owners of the ponies have denied allegations that the animals are ill-treated, Mr. Patton said.

One Woman's Day...

By NANCY HODGES

SCHOOLGIRL SILHOUETTE

HAVING OCCASION to go to Duncan the other day, I traveled up by train, and, as usual, thoroughly enjoyed the trip.

Not only for the beauty of the island at this time of the year, with the wild honey, succie, Turk's-cap lilies and other wild flowers dotting the banks.

But also for the human interest of the journey - aroused in me by fellow-passengers.

For instance, the large group of serene-faced, black-haired, white-coiffed Sisters who were going up-land, perhaps to Tzouhalem.

They chatted quietly among themselves or became engrossed in their reading, seldom looking out of the window.

HOLIDAY EXODUS

AT SHAWNIGAN a large party of school-girls boarded the train, laden with suitcases and grips, and chattering excitedly.

They commandeered the seats on the side of the platform, thrust open the windows and hung out, uttering fond farewells and final messages to their fellow-pupils and teachers who were there to see them off.

When they could no longer see the group on the platform, they sorted themselves out, three-crowding into seats intended for two.

Two of the more emotional youngsters subsided into tears - perhaps overcome at the parting from some teacher on whom they had a schoolgirl "crush."

Or perhaps with sheer excitement at the thought of going home for the "hols."

LIKE YOUNG MAGPIES

HOWEVER, they quickly recovered under the good-natured ribbing of their companions.

From my seat across the aisle, I watched the youngsters with amused interest, for their reactions to the break from school discipline awakened memories of my own far-distant school days.

Chattering like young magpies, they talked of all they were going to do in the "hols."

One girl was en route for Edmonton, whence she was going to fly to Norman Wells, near the Arctic Circle, to spend the summer with her father - and she was obviously the envy of some of the others.

THOSE SNAPSHOTS

SEVERAL GIRLS produced improvised autograph albums, on which each and every one of the group had to inscribe her name - with a verse or sketch.

One of the six huddled in a four-seat compartment produced a collection of snapshots which were passed around - to the accompaniment of giggles and squeals of delight.

"He," apparently, had sent them to her on the eve of her departure from school.

"Isn't he too cute?" gushed one. Another doubtfully remarked: "But doesn't he look old?"

At which the owner of the snaps, with a rather defiant air, said: "Well, he's old!"

And, in answer to questions as to his venerable years, confessed that "he" was 21!

At Lower Levels

MONTREAL (CP) - Securities on average trekked to lower levels in trading up to the final hour today. Among the few strong spots were Seagrams and Melchers' issues in liquors, at new highs, and C.P.R., which duplicated its 1941 top.

Up in papers were St. Lawrence Corporation "A," Abbots Common, H. Smith, Brown Preferred, Bathurst "A" and Quebec Pulp Preferred.

AGOG WITH CURIOSITY

A FEW MOMENTS LATER, a lad rather bashful in flannels and school tie, came through from the next coach and spoke to a couple of the girls higher up the aisle.

At which six of the snapshots craned their necks to see who was thus favored.

And when the girl in question and her companion got up and followed the blushing swain into the next coach, there were more exclamations.

"What can he see in her?" was followed by the slightly acid comment - born of envy, perhaps - that the youth in question was a "bit of a pansy, anyway."

A LOVE STORY?

TWO GIRLS IN THE next seat were quite oblivious of all this snapshot-and-swain chatter.

Immediately the school had receded from sight, they became engrossed in a magazine, which they shared.

Seated arm in arm, they followed the love affairs of the luscious "lovely" with little "Oohs!" and "Umms!"

And palpitantly turned over the pages with all the eager anticipation of teen-age reaction to a "heart-throb."

And punctuated the paragraphs with "Isn't he wonderful!" or else gazed dreamily-eyed into space.

YOUNGER GENERATION

AT ANOTHER STOP, a couple of still young girls got in, also in school uniform and holiday-bent.

Not for them were love stories or snapshots. They were just at the age when their chief topic of conversation was "eats."

So they embarked on a sort of competition as to what their mothers would have for them as a holiday treat.

One waxed eloquent over the "lemon chiffon pie my mummy makes" - and was sure that mummy would have that and ice cream and strawberries and cake all ready for her darling daughter.

Which, of course, spurred the other freckled little miss on to higher flights of fancy.

CREAM THAT HIGH

CHOCOLATE CAKE with great gobs of icing, the "hugest box of angel fudge you ever saw," and strawberry cake with whipped cream "that high" - "that" being about five inches!

And they were still at it when I reached Duncan - so I don't know what the penultimate was.

Incidentally, talking of youngsters, recalls a delightful and amusing little incident which happened at the Provincial Museum the other day.

SNAKE-CHARMING

AS A FRIEND was passing the door, he heard what sounded like regdy, Oriental music issuing.

His curiosity aroused by such unusual noises, he decided to investigate.

Popping his head in the door he beheld two small boys, one busily tooting away on a tin whistle.

They were standing engrossed in front of the rattlesnake's glass cage, trying their hand at snake-charming!

Which, of course, spurred the other slowly rising on its tail and dance to their piping!
